New Engineer To Assume Dallas Duties

DALLAS, Aug. 2 (AP)—Colonel L. E. Seeman, 48, is expected to arrive in Dallas next week to take over as southwestern division Army engineer from Brigadier General Herbert D. Vogel.

Division headquarters here announced Monday Seeman will replace Vogel, who has been appointed to the board of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Seeman, a native of Wisconsin, was graduated from the US Military Academy in 1928 and has a graduate degree in engineering from Princeton.

After World War II service in the China-Burma-India theater, he served in the Manhattan engineering district, which had developed the atomic bomb. Since then he has served on the staff of the Central Intelligence Agency, as district Army engineer in Alaska, and as a student in the National War College. His most recent assignment was on the staff of the Army comptroller.

Seeman and his wife have three daughters, Diane, 18; Nancy, 16, and Charlotte, 11.
